Humans - weird huh?

14 0 2

Chapter 1 by Gordon Roark

Airport; gate waiting area a few hours ahead of flight time. Looking around at all the faces and body types waiting with me. Astounding variety. It comes to mind that homo sapiens are a strange species. If we were being kept in an alien zoo there would need to be a large number of us in order to accurately represent this variety. I did not observe one single person closely resembling another.

I wonder how I was being thought of by those looking back at me. Human beings are weird. Some of us are really smart, some of us are really not very. Some of us are large, some small. Dark, light, somewhere in the middle. Strong or weak; aggressive or timid. Mean in spirit; kindhearted.

How did this happen? Why does it continue to happen? What purpose does it serve?
